

Snapshot of Title VI Programs in Region VI

SOUTH CENTRAL REGION

Overview

Title VI Native American Aging Programs (Title VI programs) provide nutrition, supportive and caregiver services to older American Indians, Alaska Natives and Native Hawaiians. Established by the Older Americans Act (OAA) in 1978, there are more than 280 Title VI programs in the United States. Title VI grants are awarded to tribal entities in federally recognized tribes, as well as to organizations representing Native Hawaiian elders (Title VI grantees). This data brief shares information about Title VI programs in U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Region VI which includes Title VI programs located in Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. Forty-six of Region VI's 54 Title VI programs responded to the survey, for a response rate of 85 percent. The data in this report compares regional data with information about Title VI programs overall.

Budget and Staffing

The table below shows the median and range for annual budgets and staff size of the Title VI programs in Region VI compared to Title VI programs across the country. Budgets vary considerably among programs due to differences in program size and amount of funding received from non-federal sources.

Table 1: Title VI Budget and Staffing Levels

	Region VI Median	Region VI Range	National Median	National Range
Annual budget	$314,428	$98,000-$3,233,935	$235,388	$58,276-$3,233,935

Funding Sources

Some Title VI programs rely exclusively on OAA Title VI Parts A/B and C funding to serve elders, as shown in Table 2, while others receive funding from multiple sources.¹ The percent columns in the table below show what percentage of programs received any funding from each funding source. The amount in the median columns show the median amount of funding received among all Title VI programs reporting some amount, greater than $0, from that specific funding source.

¹ Title VI Parts A/B provide funding for nutrition services and supportive services. Part C provides funding for caregiver support services.

Region VI Title VI Directors Share Their Stories

Title VI directors shared information on how they are using funding in new or creative ways during the COVID-19 pandemic and how they have overcome challenges.

“We have increased the amount of home-delivered meals we provide and we have also been providing frequent food boxes to elders. We have also increased the number of phone calls we have made to elders. We provide at-home activities for older adults, such as humorous, culturally-relevant color sheets with information about COVID-19.”

“We are doing what we can to keep up with our homebound elders. We send out care packets (toiletries and adult incontinence products) and extra meals for the weekends to promote our elders to shelter in place in the safety of their own homes. We can always use help; however, we are trying to do what we can with what we have.”

About This Regional Profile
